

11-08-1984-p.1

Finished reading on 11-06-1984 The Elizabethan Wood Picture by E.M.W. Tillyard. Very interesting. As I read the book -- over the last 10 days or so (about 10 pages a night) -- I constantly hoped for more descriptions of Elizabethan daily life than I found. Certainly not the book's fault. Perhaps I selected the wrong book if descriptions of Elizabethan daily life are what I was seeking.

Spent much of yesterday at my desk -- a great many more revisions/additions to PN-I-1978. I will probably have the revised and updated volume microfilmed around the first of the year. As I work at revising PN-I-1978, I must say that I am astounded by the complexity and comprehensiveness of my own work. Very gratifying indeed.

Dinner with Claude & Esther Pelli -- meat loaf & baked potatoes and yellow bean and ice cream. Very easy & relaxed. Claude cooked. No meat loaf had a nice amount of thyme in it and it was very good. Comm-Pac meeting at 7:30 PM -- Carolyn Thomas & Susan Smith & SRP & Claude. Will we do the program again this year? There is a lot of apathy and hostility in the Church about Comm-Pac. I frankly don't care if the Church accepts it or rejects it or whatever. I am feeling very detached from the program and the ill-feelings it causes among "the faithful."

A cold night -- temperature down in the 20s: no temperature problems inside the Church, however. At 6 AM today Lakeland called & asked me to sub for Thomas Bayla (9th & 11th grade English). Excellent. Given the very cold temperatures outside the tent, I have modified my morning bathing routine. Instead of bathing in the fogger, as I have recently (when it became too cold to descend to my bathing establishment on the Timber Creek) I now have moved my A.M. bathing establishment into the tent -- that way the oil heater makes bathing a very comfortable exercise. Two things which I must look after in the next few days are: (1) does my car's radiator have anti-freeze in it?; and (2) how shall I move my plants to a warmer environment. They may have been frosted this morning.

11-08-1984-p.2

Thomas Bayla - 126 L - 1984-85

- | | |
|--------------------------------|--|
| 1 - English III - 126 L - adv. | } very interesting classes;
I did a "presentation" on the joy of art / the creation of art / the autonomous-
esthetic phenomenon |
| 2 - Personal planning | |
| 3 - English III - 126 L - adv. | |
| 4 - English I - 126 L | |
| 5 - Lunch | |
| 6 - Study - sty | no diagrammed sentences -- |
| 7 - English I - 126 L | I had a wonderful time & |
| 8 - English I - 126 L | I was very impressed by the students' ability to diagram
sentences. |

Reinited my primary Vo-Tech contacts on the proposed Gravity Railroad adventure. Mark Steven and the guy who sat behind him (his name?) and a couple of others. There is a man in Jeromyn, the father of one of the group, who is also interested in getting the SR tour. I spoke with several of the Vo-Tech guys during the 5th period -- they were in the cafeteria and I was free (lunch). We discussed the proposed walk/tour. Possibly it will be an official school trip & maybe not. I shall discuss it with Shigrenelli or one of the Lakeland decision makers. No guy who sits behind Steven in Harkin's class (in which the SR enthusiasts